An important criterion for successful integration into the urban environment is the multifunctionality of the projected area. Filling it with various social functions will give an impetus to its formation. An important role in this is played by the green axis - Fosfor Alley (forest park/italian), which is the core of the quarter and, depending on its public character, they are equidistant from this axis.