

Boundary in between philosophy boundary between the city and the nature

"connection" is place to feel "what is in between"

what is link on the territorial scale becomes a cut-off in the landscape and urban experience

Scar of urban expansion

"transition" is to invite citizens from city to nature, finding a new possibility to heal the scar generated by railway

