

MEMORIAL

Guilty or innocent, victims or executioners. All those who fell in battle were firstly human beings, then soldiers. They were not a succession of identification numbers; they were fathers, sons, and brothers. They were men who laughed, cried and loved. They were men who fell for a dream of freedom or because they were ensnared by a ruthless and deadly ideology.

For these reasons, as far as these men are concerned, the proposal is a space to think. A place of peace and meditation offering a silent tribute, a hushed thought to those who lost their lives in numerous conflicts, which tinged the history of mankind with mourning. The Proposed memorial is designed in order to communicate with the visitors' souls evoking a sense of respect and meditation.
