

THE STATE OF ART

4TH CENTURY A.D

The most crucial literary evidence, we could find, is the one that describes the Villa in detail by Historia Augusta, redacted in 4th century A.D.

"His villa at Tibur was marvelously constructed, and he actually gave to parts of it the names of provinces and places of the greatest renown, calling them, for instance, Lyceum, Academia, Prytaneum, Canopus, Poecile and Tempe. And in order not to omit anything, he even made a Hades."
